SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1848.

Our readers must excuse the barrenness of our editorial columns this week. For the past two or three days, our attention has been exclusively engrossed by the skunk fight and the legal proceedings growing out of it.

If we are not driven out of the city—which we do not intend to be; and if our life is spared—which we hope may be the case—we will do better hereafter.

Horse Thief Arrested.—On Thursday last David Wilson was arrested at the Junction, Ohio, by Mr. Freeman and Capt. Price of this city, on a charge of stealing a horse from Mr. Colson, livery stable-keeper. He hired the horse on pretence of going to buy some ponies, but having started in a direction different from the one he spoke of, and offering to sell or trade off the horse, suspicion was excited, and he was pursued and arrested. A large Bowie knife, a loaded pistol, and a counterfeit $20 bill were found in his possession. He is a large powerful man, and has long been suspected of being engaged in dishonest practices.

Gen. Scott suspended from command.—Gen. Scott has been temporarily suspended from his command in Mexico, until an examination can be had into the nature of the difficulties between him and Gens. Worth and Pillow. Gen. Worth has been released from arrest, and ordered to resume his command. The chief command of the army in Mexico, for the present, devolves on Gen. Butler.

We regret that the inconsiderate and unskillful conduct of Gen. Scott has rendered this course imperative on the government. His achievements in the field have been glorious, and worthy the admiration and gratitude of the country; but his total want of consideration for the feelings of the gallant officers under his command and the envy and jealousy he manifests if they receive the slightest praise, must, if not timely checked, create a state of feeling in the army fatal to its future success, subversive of its discipline, and disgraceful to us as a nation.

CLERICAL ERROR.—The Union of the 19th instant details the circumstances under which an error of nearly seven millions of dollars occurred in making out the statement of the receipts and expenditures of the government. The mistake was made by the clerk who prepares the financial tables for the Secretary of the Treasury. The same gentleman has prepared them for a very long period, during many administrations, and has never before committed any error, being proverbial for his accuracy.

The error is in favor of the government, the clerk having forgotten to carry out the seven millions in his calculations into the proper column, or rather having omitted to carry it into the financial statement prepared by him from the table referred to in the Secretary's report. Congress was, therefore, truly informed of the exact state of the case and would have discovered the omitted sum as soon as the report and tables were published.

Dastardly Assault.—On Thursday last, a brutal and unprovoked attack was made on the editor of this paper by Wm. G. Ewing, the defeated candidate for Congress in this district. We accidentally met him in the street about noon that day, when he accused us in a bullying and threatening manner concerning the paragraph in reference to the Whig State Convention in the paper of the 22d. Without giving us an opportunity to reply, he attacked us with a sword cane, we parried his blows, and endeavored to close with and disarm him; but he, like a miserable ranchero, retreated, and kept up a running fight, until we cornered him, when the interference of bystanders put a stop to the conflict. A crowd soon collected, among whom we recognized some of the myrmidons whom he usually keeps around him.

There being no further danger, he brandished his assassin-like weapon in our face, and launched us into a tirade of most disgusting language could do us no harm and would not be believed; but on the contrary, by showing his own malignant nature in his naked and hideous deformity, would recoil on himself.

To show the kind of slang he uses towards us, and to enable those of our readers who do not know the man, to judge of his true character, of his peculiar talents, and of his claims to public support, we copy the following unique letter from him, published in the Times of Thursday—the very day the attack was made on us. We make no comment on it, nor is any needed. We merely wish the public to read it, and to compare it with anything we have ever written, and then say what cause Mr. Ewing had for his assault. We will not mince with him; we freely acknowledge that we are no match for him in blackguardism and threats, which we did not feel inclined to interrupt, as we felt it duty to give him a full opportunity of showing the baseness and depravity of his heart, that those of his fellow citizens who have hitherto supported him, might judge of the moral and intellectual qualifications of the man for the high station to which he has the effrontry to aspire. We venture to assert that there was not a whig who heard him, but who felt that our district had escaped a stigma and disgrace by not sending him as their representative to Washington. Suppose he had been elected, and had made such an exhibition of himself in the Federal City, is there a whig in the district who would not have felt ashamed?—is there one who would not have considered the state and the district disgraced by being represented by such a man?

After rapping round like a monie for about half an hour, he retired and procured a heavy Hickory club, the case of his sword having been broken in the affray, and the sword itself being too short to use without coming to closer quarters than was consistent with his views of personal safety) renewed his threats of violence and bloodshed. In the afternoon he caused a complaint to be entered against himself before M. W. Huxley, Esq. Mayor of the city, for a breach of the peace, thinking thereby to escape further proceedings. His honor, with due consideration for the nature of the attack, and with a praiseworthy determination to maintain the character of the city, by repelling such outrages, promptly punished the offender, to the enormous amount of—how much do you guess?—five dollars.

We do not wish to be understood as insinuating or even suspecting that any improper influence induced the Mayor to affix the penalty at the sum above named, though some effort to think that he must have rather curious ideas concerning his duty to protect the character of the city, which is in some measure confined to his charge. We should, however, like to see full schedule of the charges to be made for this species of amusement. If a wealthy russian pays five dollars for attacking an unarmed man with a deadly weapon, what would a poor rowdy pay for breaking another's head, or indulging in a simple knock down? and does this seem to make any difference between a rogue in ruffles and a rogue in rags?

We do not intend to let the matter rest; but are determined that the majesty of the law shall be vindicated, and Mr. Ewing learn that his ill-gotten wealth can no longer give him license to ride rough shod over his fellow men, whose honesty may have stood in the way of their acquiring as many dollars as he has. His wealth and power have hitherto caused the community tacitly to countenance, or at least to tolerate, his outrages; but it is time that the character of our city be redeemed from the opprobrium such acts bring upon it.

The law will, we trust, afford us protection, and prove that in this happy country all men—the poor as well as the rich—are free and equal. In this attempt we confidently look for the cooperation of all good citizens.

It may be a satisfaction to our friends to learn that we were not dangerously hurt in this unequal conflict. We received one slight stab in the finger, and got a little bruised and crippled in the hand and arm, in parrying off his murderous blows, but trust in a few days to be able to attend to our business as usual.

To show how uncalled for this attack was, we copy from our paper of the 22d, inst. the paragraph complained of:

Whig Convention.—The whig convention of this State assembled at Indianapolis on the 13th inst. We have not seen the proceedings, but learn by the Times, that David Kilgore of Muncie was appointed elector for this District, and Warren H. Withers of the same place (who is so handsomely spoken of by Mr. Wallace, editor of the Rough and Ready) contingent. W. G. Ewing is appointed delegate to the National Convention and H. N. E. Murray, W. H. Niemann and Allen Hamilton, contingents. We don't exactly know how Mr. Hamilton or his political friends may like to see his name at the top of such a list; but for our part we look upon it as an outrage. The order of the names should be reversed.

The appointment of Mr. Kilgore as elector for this district, settles the question as to who will be the next whig candidate for Congress. Mr. Ewing is determined to run again, and went to Indianapolis for the express purpose of being appointed elector, as that would give him an opportunity to canvass the district and meet himself before the people. His party however, had not been satisfied with his past exhibitions in the stump, and had no desire to have him again force himself on them as their candidate for Congress, with an absolute certainty of defeat; they therefore chucked him off, and put Mr. Kilgore, a man whom all others he most hates and fears, in his place. This is rather too bad, after Mr. Ewing's great outlay of money and wear and tear of conscience in the late campaign; but the scripture informs us that the way of the transgressor is hard."

Now we ask our readers if there is any thing in this, for which our lives should be endangered—any thing, in fact, of which Mr. Ewing has any reason to complain—or any thing which it is not our right, as editor of a public journal, to say. We consider it the duty of a political editor to give his views boldly and fearlessly of all political movements, and it is of this, and this alone, we speak. To Mr. Ewing's character we did not allude; nor have we ever been in the habit of doing, although, as is well known, much might have been said on this subject, to prove his unworthiness of the confidence of his fellow citizens; and although he has pursued an opposite course towards us, and sought every opportunity, public as well as private, to slander and vilify us, we have suffered this to go unnoticed, because we felt confident his blustering could do us no harm and would not be believed; but on the contrary, by showing his own malignant nature in his naked and hideous deformity, would recoil on himself.

To show the kind of slang he uses towards us, and to enable those of our readers who do not know the man, to judge of his true character, of his peculiar talents, and of his claims to public support, we copy the following unique letter from him, published in the Times of Thursday—the very day the attack was made on us. We make no comment on it, nor is any needed. We merely wish the public to read it, and to compare it with anything we have ever written, and then say what cause Mr. Ewing had for his assault. We will not mince with him; we freely acknowledge that we are no match for him in blackguardism and threats, which we did not feel inclined to interrupt, as we felt it duty to give him a full opportunity of showing the baseness and depravity of his heart, that those of his fellow citizens who have hitherto supported him, might judge of the moral and intellectual qualifications of the man for the high station to which he has the effrontry to aspire. Suppose he had been elected, and had made such an exhibition of himself in the Federal City, is there a whig in the district who would not have felt ashamed?—is there one who would not have considered the state and the district disgraced by being represented by such a man?

From the Times & Press.

TOM POLECAT.

The whig State Convention, allotted to each Congressional district, five delegates to the National Convention. The following were chosen for the 10th district: W. G. Ewing, H. N. E. Murray, W. H. Niemann and Allen Hamilton. Please refer to the previous issue of this paper for the names of the candidates, and you will see the resolution that passed giving each district five full and equal delegates but no contingents, as follows, viz: Resolved that each Congressional district in this state be entitled to five delegates to the contemplated national convention.

Tom Polecat, the notorious lying and dastardly scoundrel of the Fort Wayne Sentinel, tells a most wilful lie in his paper of the 22d, January, by saying there was but one delegate to W. G. Ewing, and the other four were made contingents, subordinate to him. This is as usual wilful, and malignant; uttered to exasperate and produce unpleasant feelings among some of our citizens. And such is this dirty pander, fixed habit, and predilection to lie, that he cannot write two paragraphs without fabricating a malicious slander, and the malign effusions of this sewer of calumny, has become a reproach and a nuisance to this community.

Last spring, many of our prominent citizens of both political parties were most villainously defamed by its blustering slang, to subserve the corrupt designs of an infamous clique of this city. True, no one knows the lying Journal, or its patron editor will fully believe one word it says, yet strangers may be imposed upon, and its lies should be exposed, as the offender, to the enormous amount of—how much do you guess?—five dollars.

We do not wish to be understood as insinuating or even suspecting that any improper influence induced the Mayor to affix the penalty at the sum above named, though some effort to think that he must have rather curious ideas concerning his duty to protect the character of the city, which is in some measure confined to his charge. We should, however, like to see full schedule of the charges to be made for this species of amusement. If a wealthy subject, submitted by Perdigon Gray, deputy from the State of Mexico. It is quite long, and we can give a synopsis merely.

The Speaker laid before the House sundry communications from the Executive Department, which were ordered to be printed. The House then adjourned.

THE NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

We understand the democratic members of Congress felt some delicacy in meddling with the slightest degree, with the National Convention. But they found it necessary to appeal to the members of the party, when his business permits, and an opportunity is offered, in and when they found the State Convention of Georgia invoking their interposition, they could not reconcile it to themselves to abstain altogether from expressing some opinion upon the question. They accordingly met and conferred together; and the result is now before our readers—being a respectful recommendation to the democrats of the Union to meet, as of old, according to the usages of their party, at the usual place and time of meeting. In taking this course, they do not pretend to defer to their fellow citizens, but most respectfully recommend the former course of the democratic national convention, to the adoption of their republican brethren. The following is the official account of the proceedings of the meeting of the republicans of both houses on Monday night:

DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION.

Meeting of the Democratic Senators and Members.

At a meeting of the democratic senators and members of the House of Representatives held in the Senate Chamber of the United States, on the evening of the 24th of January, 1848.

Gen. SAM HOUSTON, senator from Texas, was called to the chair; and

Mr. RICHARD BRODHEAD, of the House of Representatives, from Pennsylvania, appointed secretary.

Mr. J. W. KELLY, of Arkansas, from the joint committee appointed at a previous meeting reported the following resolution:

Resolved, That it is respectfully recommended to our democratic friends throughout the Union, to hold the proposed National Convention, for the purpose of nominating candidates for President and Vice President of the United States, at the usual time and place, to wit: on the 4th Monday of May next, at Baltimore.

Mr. THOMPSON, of Mississippi, moved to strike out Baltimore; which motion, after some discussion, was not agreed to.

Mr. BRADBURY, of Maine, moved to strike out the 4th of May, and insert the 4th of July; which motion, after some discussion, was also decided in the negative.

The resolution submitted by Mr. SEVERE was then unanimously adopted.

On motion of Mr. TURNER, of Illinois, it was

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be signed by the officers; and that all the democratic editors be respectfully requested to publish the following resolution:

SAM HOUSTON, Chairman.

RICHARD BRODHEAD, Secretary.

From the N. O. Picayune.

IMPORTANT FROM MEXICO.

The most important intelligence by this arrival consists of an indefinite, but very circumstantial rumor that secret negotiations are on foot which, if true, it comes to us from several sources, and such as are usually well informed. We have nothing very tangible to give color to, but note below such circumstances as favor it. For ourselves, we can only vaguely for the fact, that such an impression was very strong and general in Texas.

The British courier arrived at Vera Cruz on the 1st inst., with despatches from Mr. Boyle, the British minister, at the capital. The despatches were forwarded immediately to New Orleans, by the British brig of war, during which induced the opinion that they contained peace negotiations, through British mediation.

Col. Niles' train started for the capital.—Marshall was at Jalapa awaiting their arrival.

Jan. 26.—SENATE.—Agreeably to notice, M. Ashby asked and obtained leave to bring out a bill to extend the jurisdiction of the United States Courts over navigable waters.

In the House, the subject of referring the President's annual message was up. After much debate, a resolution was adopted to stop the debates on the message after 2 o'clock on Wednesday.

Jan. 26.—SENATE.—Agreeably to notice, M. Ashby asked and obtained leave to bring out a bill to extend the jurisdiction of the United States Courts over navigable waters.

John Reynolds, of the 6th Infantry, was hung for murdering a Mexican woman.

It was reported that Santa Anna had embarked Acapulco for San Bias.

A night expedition to Mazatlan, for the purpose of apprehending some officers, resulted in a skirmish, in which several Mexicans were killed.

A number of Americans were sent to Col. Childs, by Izunzeas, former Governor of Puebla, asking the exchange of Col. Pavon. Childs refused, on the ground that the Mexicans were already greatly indebted for prisoners liberated by the Americans, but urged his release. He will leave for him to determine; but if the P. M. at St. Mary's has "acted rather unkindly towards the people of Ft. Wayne," and that he refused to send sailors forward to the old route, notwithstanding he might have done without making the mails too heavy," and when papers have been sent to him by the P. M. at St. Mary's, he has repeatedly returned them to this office," (meaning Puebla) he denies it altogether.

It follows a somewhat lengthy explanation in regard to the management of the mails, for which we have not room; but which shows, as we had previously expected, that the contractor on the old Piqua route, conceived that he was exonerated from carrying the heavy mail between this place and St. Mary's, in consequence of the establishment of the Juncion route by canal. However the agitation of the subject has been beneficial to the public; for the missing papers, &c., now begin to come along.

The cause of all the difficulty, for which the P. M. at Toledo appears to be to blame. The letter says that a canvas bag, sent to his office from Piqua, as I am informed by the mail carrier, sometimes breaking open, a part of the mail is scattered by the way, &c.

But the want of bags could not have caused those that were in use to come to this place empty, while "cart loads" of mail matter for Fort Wayne and the north, were piled up at Piqua, as was often the case.

We suggested some time ago, that the appointment of an agent to pass along the route from here to St. Mary's, would be of service in ferreting out culpriness, and so it has proved. Mr. McCulloch, though on his own business, undertook the task, and the result is apparently already.—Fort Wayne Times.

Gen. Scott and the Court of Inquiry. The court of inquiry will take place at Fort Wayne. The charges preferred by Gen. Scott against Pillow and Duncan, and those preferred by Worth against the commander-in-chief, will have to be thoroughly examined before a court martial is determined on; and if called its investigations must be concluded ere Gen. Scott can repair to Washington to see to his claims on the part of his agents.

The Department, after considering the charges against Worth concluded that they would not hold water, and have not ordered them to be looked into by the court of inquiry. Gen. Butler will be in command while the investigation is going on.

The Difficulty between Generals Scott and Worth.—The cause of Gen. Worth's arrest is said to have been as follows:

Gen. Scott, finding himself severely, although indirectly, censured in general orders, published to the whole army, for an alleged offence, without the formalities of a military trial, called upon the commander-in-chief, in a very respectful note, to state definitely whether he (Gen. Worth) was one of the officers alluded to in the general orders published to the army. To this note, Gen. Scott, I believe, returned a very satisfactory reply; when Gen. Worth reiterated his request to know distinctly, whether he was to consider himself as one of the officers indicated in "349." To this, Gen. Scott replied, that he could not hold himself responsible for the inferences of his officers to draw from his general orders, and refused all further explanation.

Worth drew up a statement of the facts, which, it is said, contained an intimation that he was not in the heart of the enemy's country. To this, Gen. Scott replied, that his duty to prefer charges against the commanding general.

This was the complaint to the Star of the 18th inst.

The House continued the discussions on the reference of the President's message, but had, at the latest advices, come to no conclusion.

Jan. 28.—SENATE.—Agreeably to notice, Mr. Rusk asked and obtained leave to bring out a bill to incorporate the Texan Navy with ours. Referred to the committee on Naval Affairs.

Mr. Pearce, from the committee on the Library, reported a joint resolution to purchase the Hamilton papers.

On motion, the Senate laid aside the morning business, and proceeded to the consideration of the order of the day, viz: the Texan Regiment Bill.

Mr. Case expressed a hope that the debate on this question would soon terminate.

Mr. Dowell of Louisiana, has the floor on this question to-morrow.

The following extracts are made from the Star of the 18th inst.

Re-organization of the Mexican Army.—Our readers are aware that the Mexican Congress has been recently discussing various propositions for the re-organization of the Mexican army. We are not aware that any project of this character has passed into a law, and for the reason that the deputies, when they happen to be in session, can unite upon no single act of legislation. The Federalista, however, published at Queretaro, and received yesterday, contains the project of a law on the subject, submitted by Perdigon Gray, deputy

Dr. Townsend's Sarsaparilla
THE MOST EXTRAORDINARY MEDICINE IN THE WORLD.

This Extract is put up in quart bottles; it is six times cheaper, pleasanter, and warranted superior to any similar medicine. It is a cordial, and it will cure the disease even known; it not only purifies the whole system, strengthens the person, but it creates new, pure and rich life; it cures by no other medicine.

GREAT FALL AND WINTER MEDICINE.

The great beauty and superiority of this Sarsaparilla over other medicines, we are sure, eradicates all doubt, it is the best. It is the best, and the winter disease even known; it not only purifies the whole system, strengthens the person, but it creates new, pure and rich life; it cures by no other medicine.

It is a grand secret of the Sarsaparilla, that it is perfect within the past two years, more than 35,000 cases of the cure of disease; less than 20,000 of these were considered.

More than 30,000 cases of Chronic Rheumatism;

2,000 cases of Dyspepsia;

4,000 cases of Consumption and Want of Energy;

7,000 cases of the different Female Complaints;

2,000 cases of Scrofula;

1,000 cases of Liver Complaint;

2,000 cases of Disease of the Kidneys and Drossy;

8,000 cases of Consumption;

And thousands of cases of disease of the blood, viz: 11,000 cases of Consumption, 1,000 cases of Scrofula, 1,000 cases of Consumption, together with numerous cases of Headache, Pain in the Side and Chest, Spinal Affections, &c. &c.

This we believe, must appear incredible, but we have heard it from Physicians from all parts of the United States, informing us of extraordinary cures. R. V. Buskirk, Esq., one of the most respectable Physicians in the country, has informed us, that he has had 100 cases in that place alone. There are hundreds of cases in the City of New York, which we will refer to with pleasure, to meet our reader's desire for more detail. An entire list of diseases known, is undoubtedly saved the lives of more than 5,000 CHILDREN THE PAST YEAR!

As it removes the cause of disease, and prepared them for the summer season. It has never been known to injure, but the least delicate child.

RHEUMATISM.

This Sarsaparilla is used with the most perfect success in Rheumatic complaints, however severe or chronic. The remaining cures it has performed, in cases of Consumption, Scrofula, &c. &c. are equally remarkable, this entirely eradicates it from the system, even when the limbs and bones are dreadfully swollen.

—Hear Sir, Soth-Temp, one of the oldstand most respectable Physicians in the City, has written us a letter, enclosing a copy of a letter received from him:

Dr. Townsend—I have used often your Sarsaparilla, and find it is excellent for any disease upon a chronic rheumatic, and it is a great relief upon a chronic occasioned by a fever, or a cold in a public stage. Please send me two bottles to the care of Dr. Seymour, and I will communicate with our principal physician, and recommend your Sarsaparilla.

CONSUMPTION CURE.
